Thank you for seeing this 41 year old male who presents with the following history:

Patient JIN LIM presented on 2023/08/02 11:45

Allergies to medications:

No known allergies to medications

Current Medicines:

Finasteride for hair loss. daily.

Medicines in the last 3 months:

None

Past Medical History:

None

Mental Health History:

None

Past Surgical and Procedure history:

None

Subjective:

Joint/ muscle pain (including back pain) It has been more than a 4 weeks. I started feel pain on my shoulder joint. It doesn't go away. I stoped going to the gym. When I lift up my arm to shoulder hight, I feel pain. I suspect that it could be Rotate Cuff tear. so I am worrying. How much would cost me to have shoulder joint MRI?

Symptoms reviewed with Jin - as above.

Was lifting increasingly heavy weights at the gym - possibly hurt himself there.

Right shoulder affected.

Sudden onset of pain Pain 3/10

Objective:

The calculated BMI is 20.5

Demonstrates good AROM but with pain at limits of adduction and int rotation.

Assessment:

Suspicious for a rotator cuff issue.

Bursitis also a possibility.

Treatment Plan:

Diagnosis discussed.

A trial of etoflam is recommended - prescribed.

A visit to a physiotherapist is also advised.

Should there be any concerns expressed by the physiotherapist, or if not improving as expected, an MRI for is also attached to get an MRI.

Please perform and report on the following radiological investigation: MRI of RIGHT SHOULDER

Many thanks again for your help with this patient.

Yours sincerely
